

Task Management

Task management improves project workflow. Users can easily create a task, assign the task to an individual or multiple people, and select a due date. Once a task has been assigned, the status of tasks appears in the activity stream of the person assigning the task, as well as the individual who received the task. The status of tasks can be changed when completed.

Move Tray

With a mobile first design, users can easily drag and drop files across multiple kiteworks folders or enterprise content sources. The Move Tray also allows users to share files from multiple folders and sources in a single email, temporarily store files for quick access, and re-organize content.

File Lock/Unlock

Users can lock and unlock files to prevent editing conflicts. Files can only be unlocked by the user who locks them or by the folder Owner and Manager. Locked files can be downloaded, commented on, and viewed, but only deleted or updated by the person who locked the file or by folder Owner or Manager.

Comments

Enterprise collaboration is improved when stakeholders can comment on files they are working on. All users can view, add, edit or remove comments to files posted in a folder.

Notifications

Soliciting feedback is an important part of any project. Users can subscribe to receive notifications when files have been added or removed, and comments have been made.

Track File Versions

Tracking each file version makes file management easy and kiteworks displays all versions of files added to folders. A newly uploaded file that has the same name as an existing file is automatically considered the latest version. Users can also add a “new version” of a file even if the file has a different name.

File Synchronization
